A NEW TRIBUNAL.

The Supreme Court, as a check upon the encroaching tendencies of Congress, and as a conservative power to preserve the equilibrium of the Government in its administration, and to protect the Constitution against violation and overthrow, and as a tribunal to decide questions of federal jurisdiction between the United States and the States, has proved a failure. A properly organized authority to perform all those functions, in an extensive country, having many States or political subdivisions, each possessing for itself a local government, comprehending the great mass of all political powers, and a common government for the whole, made by the people of the subdivisions, consisting of a few general but specified powers, with a reservation of all others, and the whole scheme written out in the form of a constitution as its supreme law, is a necessity; and the absence of such a tribunal, efficient for all those ends, was the great defect of our system. This essential deficiency of the Supreme Court left the Constitution without protection against Congressional and Presidential encroachment, at a period of great danger and excitement, and the rights and liberties of the people to be trampled upon by them without any hindrance, and all questions of conflict of power between the United States and the States to be decided by the will of one of the parties, or to be decided by the sword.

If our mixed system of National and State Governments, by written constitutions, could be restored in full integrity, it would be impossible for it to endure long without the organization of some such tribunal as I have indicated; and to devise one both safe and effective, would, in my opinion, be a great achievement of statesmanship. I will merely suggest such a one as occurs to my mind for the consideration of able men.

Each State to choose one member of a tribunal, to have power, both by original and appellate jurisdiction, to decide all questions of conflict of power between the Government of the United States and the States; all questions involving the constitutionality of bills passed by Congress; all questions involving the constitutional power of the President, and all other officers of the United States Government, to do any act whatever, and to annul the same; and to annul the votes for President and Vice President after election, in the presence of the two Houses of Congress. The members of the tribunal to hold their places during good behavior, to receive compensation from their respective States, to have perpetual session in Washington City, with the power of excommunication, the excommunication of a majority of the whole number to be necessary in all its decisions, and its judgments to be enforced by the United States.

This tribunal, in its organization, would be Federal, but in all its judgments, and in its execution, National. It might not be sufficient for its design, but it would be a great step towards the preservation of constitutional government and popular liberty—if they are not even now irretrievably lost.

A FINE COLT SHOW.

Editor Yeoman:
SIR: Feeling lest the mention of Dr. L. Her's colt show on Wednesday last, at his residence near Lexington, should be omitted in your valuable paper, I trust you will pardon the liberty I take to insert a few lines, for such a show of weanlings and yearlings were probably never seen before, on this or the other side of the Atlantic ocean. I think my opinion was the general one, and the Doctor's breast must, indeed, have swelled with emotion when the sire of such animals was led out for inspection. Such shows are more numerous in England, but after some years of experience, and a somewhat close connection with the British turf, I must confess I was overcome with surprise, and I also add satisfaction, when I saw the great breeder of such horses as Lady Thorne and Mambrino Bertie submit to the public opinion such a truly magnificent lot of little ones as Wednesday's.

The reputation of Mambrino Pachen has already reached the upper branch, and such a nursery lot as Wednesday's cannot fail to raise such a sire of trotters still higher. Nor can it now be doubted for one single moment, that Mambrino Pachen is indeed the noble son of Mambrino Chief, shakily as public opinion once was upon that important fact.

May the horse and his owner long live prosperously to further benefit the determined energies of the Kentucky, and indeed all breeders of trotters, is the earnest desire of
AN ENGLISHMAN.

The papers at this place have never at any time opposed the construction of any railroad in any portion of the State. They have said nothing against the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad, and nothing against the Great Eastern, proposed to connect the Maysville with the Chesapeake and Ohio road. But, whenever any road is proposed to benefit Paris, then the Maysville papers and several of the Lexington papers denounce the enterprise. At this time the Frankfort, Paris, and Big Sandy Railroad excites their opposition. They know we have the most direct and best route, and, therefore, they oppose it, and want us to abandon ours that their own enterprises may succeed. We are not greatly surprised at the course of these journals; but, we are surprised that some of our own people should be willing to make our city tributary to either Lexington or Maysville, and give up our direct line for their out-of-the-way circuitous routes.

A TAR MERCHANT INTERVIEWED.

In passing up Main street yesterday, our attention was attracted by a very primitive-looking ox-wagon standing in front of the Capital Hotel. It had the old-fashioned wooden axle, and, in its low body, crowned with a weather-stained wagon-sheet, we saw what looked like tar-kegs in compact rows among the straw with which the bottom of the bed was strewn. There were two yoke of oxen; one spotted and bald-faced, and the other the good old-fashioned brindlee, which the importation of Short-horns has pretty well run out of this region, but both small and rather calf-like in their build. The near lead ox had a rope to his horns, to the end of which was a small boy about ten years of age, bare footed and dressed in a costume of tattered jeans of different colors, which looked as if the original suit had given place to the patches with which it had, from time to time, been mended. Upon inquiry we found that he was from Palaski county, and, in company with his father, had come down for the purpose of disposing of a cargo of tar, of which they had on leaving home ninety-nine kegs, the selling price of which was eighty cents. While engaged in this conversation, the senior himself hove in sight, and pretty soon we were interviewing him in the approved style, the result of which was that we gathered more interesting facts about tar than we ever knew before. The enterprising proprietor of the wagon proved to be Thomas Langford, living fifteen miles east of Somerset, and near the Narrows of Rockcastle river, about seventy-five miles from here. Upon our inquiry as to what brought him so far with his tar, he said, "hard times and dull sales at home," alluding that he was on his way to Owen county, where wooden axles were still in use, and he would find ready sale for his supply. The introduction of iron axles, he said, had interfered very much with the tar trade, and he proposed to take every line—but it had received its heaviest blow from the use of coal tar from the gas-works as a substitute. This latter, Mr. Langford informed us, was a fraud, as it would ruin wagons, causing the wood to split, while the genuine pine tar manufactured by him would keep everything snug and tight, and lubricate wooden axles better than any known invention. It was also, he said, invaluable for stock, to place in water and salt troughs, to keep off distempers of various kinds. We were so much impressed with its sterling qualities that we forthwith purchased a keg. Capt. McGill, the enterprising proprietor of the Capital Hotel, who was present at the interview, advancing the necessary funds. May he live till he collects the amount.

In token of further interest in this enterprising constituent of our friend Senator Fox we gave him a letter of introduction to Judge Clarke, editor of the Owen News, and commended him to his friendly attention.

The Adjutant General received information yesterday, that on the night of the 24th inst., a body of white men and negroes visited the houses of eight members of a company of State militia, living in Madison, near the Jessamine line, seized and destroyed their guns, shooting into the houses and at the inmates. This is a high-handed outrage, which calls for prompt punishment. It is said that a number of the attacking party can be identified.

THE ROYAL JAPANESE JUGGLERS AT MAJON HALL.—The Cincinnati Enquirer has the following in regard to this celebrated Company, which will appear at Major Hall on Wednesday night:

Satsuma's Royal Japanese troupe—royal, indeed, in all that is wonderful in their attractive line of the show business—performed last night before another immense audience, who shuddered—there is a good deal of the ever popular "sludder" in them—at the ladder act of Satsuma and son; wondered at their tub act, and applauded to the echo Kunitachi and Kotzko's great shoulder balancing and Little All Right's tumbling and black balancing. Yotoku's hoop leaping, the bamboo act of Miss On-yon and Yotoma, the wire walking of Miss Fehintatz, and the tape throwing of Miss Yoyitchie, are all astonishing to an American audience, who only wonder why the orchestra is allowed to mar some of the best features, and why Yotz is permitted to offend the good taste of all present by absurd attempt at burlesque during the walking act. We commend the entertainment to all who are fond of genuine sensation.

It will be seen by reference to the proper column, that John L. Saeed, of this city, is a candidate for the office of Assistant Clerk of the Senate. He is an estimable gentleman, and well qualified for the position.

Wendell Phillips said in a speech the other day that in 240,000 bodies, which make up the population of Boston, there are not more than a thousand souls. Right for once; here's our hand, all fellow, for speaking the truth right out in meeting for once, anyhow. But Wendell is not one of the thousand.

The fire in Chicago has had the effect to smooth over the political antagonisms. Both parties in the city have agreed to make no nominations, but to support a joint ticket with Medill, of the Tribune, as candidate for mayor. With this beautiful exhibition of brotherly love, it is only a little short of fiendish for the Cincinnati Enquirer to ask if the municipal government has been too badly plucked to make the stealings worth fighting for.

The trotting turf has lost two of its finest horses in Kentucky within the past week or so, in the death of Clark Chief and Curtis' Hambletonian. The former was owned by Mr. John Mardis, of Clark county, Kentucky, and the latter of B. Curtis, of Brooklyn, New York, but kept in Kentucky. He was by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, and hal brother of Dexter, Geo. Wilkes, Abdallah and a number of other noted horses, and valued at $20,000.

It cleared off beautifully Thursday night after a gloomy day, and yesterday was the perfection of autumn weather. The rains of the preceding days had settled all the dust, and the air was delightfully bracing, being tempered of all rawness by an unclouded sun.

The attention of the city authorities is called to the propriety of placing a foot crossing at the corner of Wapping and St. Clair streets. If this were done, the travel across the bridge would be divided, and persons might with propriety be required to keep to the right, instead of as now having only one side of the bridge in use.

A public meeting will be held at Walton, Boone county, on Saturday, November 4, for the purpose of organizing an Agricultural Fair Association, and establishing fair grounds at or near Walton. Walton is situated at the junction of the Short Line Railroad and the Covington and Lexington turnpike, and offers an excellent site for fair grounds.

NOT PREPARED FOR FIRE.—For the information of outsiders, says the Big Sandy Herald, we will say that in this town of twelve hundred inhabitants there is not a fire engine of any sort, not a foot of hose, not a single public well or cistern, not even a "bucket company." If insurance rates are not high they ought to be.

Under the census returns, the State of Alabama only lacks eight persons of an even million of inhabitants.

This is a question of more than ordinary significance, now that nearly all the prominent Insurance Companies of the land have been swept away by the burning of Chicago.

Companies rightly deemed perfectly sound a week ago, have been swamped by losses exceeding the entire amount of their assets. Many of the most prominent Companies are bankrupt.

AUTUMN LEAVES.

BY CHARLES DICKENS.

Autumn leaves, Autumn leaves, lie strewn around me here;
Autumn leaves, Autumn leaves, how sad, how cold, how drear!
How like the hopes of childhood's day,
Thick clustering on the bough!
How like those hopes in their decay,
How faded are they now!
Autumn leaves, Autumn leaves, lie strewn around me here;
Autumn leaves, Autumn leaves, how sad, how cold, how drear!
Wither'd leaves, wither'd leaves, that fly before the gale;
Wither'd leaves, wither'd leaves, ye tell a mournful tale.
Of love once true, and friends once kind,
And happy moments fled;
Dispersed by every breath of wind,
Forgotten, changed, or dead!
Autumn leaves, Autumn leaves, lie strewn around me here;
Autumn leaves, Autumn leaves, how sad, how cold, how drear!

Storing Winter Apples.

A correspondent of Laws of Life, who claims to have extended experience, is decidedly of the opinion that apples kept far better when put into close boxes or barrels, and secured as much as possible from the air. When thus stored, he says, they will come out in the spring, full and plump as when taken from the tree. Many varieties, as the Talisman Sweet, Spitzenberg, and those kinds that are not considered as long keepers, and shrivel badly, will do well treated in this way. I have continued, found universally that they kept better to let them lie without picking over. It is much better to pile them into a large bin across the cellar, say six or seven feet wide, and cover them up tight, than to lay them on shelves. I once saw such a bin that a man had kept through the winter. About the first of April, he thought he would open the window on the side of the cellar next to the bin to let in the air, that they might keep better. I was at his place and he called my attention to the fact. Two windows over the bin were opened about ten days or two weeks, and the apples exactly opposite the windows, about one-third, rotted for as much as a foot in depth, and the remaining part on either side were not rotted at all. Another instance: A neighbor of mine had about five hundred bushels in a pile in a cellar. As they became a little speckled he commenced picking them over; when about half done he got tired and concluded to let them go. When marketed about six weeks after, he found that one third of those picked over were not fit for market, while all but one-twentieth of the other were good. This I have seen in numerous instances. If you wish to try the experiment, make a box as tight as a carpenter can make it, and when packing from the orchard, fill it and nail it fast. Let it lie in the orchard till it is in danger of freezing; then put it in the cellar. Put the same quantity on the shelves for trial. I am pretty sure one experiment will convince.

PROGRESS OF VODOOISM.—The introduction of schools among the emancipated negroes in the South has not had the effect of checking the popular belief in Voodooism, which, on the contrary, is spreading to regions where it was formerly unknown. One reason of this is the removal of all restrictions as to travel, thus permitting the agents of the superstition to roam about in all directions. Any old rough-looking negro with a bag of lizard heads, old bones, and other trapezoidal to excite the African imagination, can tramp from one plantation to another, living on the best the country affords, without troubling himself about work at all. The negroes will all fear him, and they will many of them be ready to pay him liberally for exerting his supernatural powers in their behalf. Some of these fellows are very cunning.

PASTRY.—The flour for pastry should be of the whitest and finest quality. It should be mixed with a broad knife, as the moisture and warmth of the hand make it heavy. The butter should be of the best quality, as if it is a little rancid it will taste. To make puff paste it should have all the salt washed out of it. Iron or black tin plates are the best for making pastry. Always use cold water (in summer ice-water) to mix pastry, and if it cannot be baked immediately, set it away in a cool place.

HEAVY.—Tuesday on the adjournment of the court of claims, we gathered together "Squire James Howell, Thomas Duncan, and R. M. Park, the three heaviest justices on the bench, and weighed them. "Squire Duncan drew down 253 lbs.; "Squire Howell 254, and "Squire Park 211 pounds, making an aggregate of 721 pounds. (Elizabethtown News.)

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—A sacramental meeting, to continue several days, will be commenced at Cherry Spring Church, Newtown, next Saturday. Preaching every day at 11 o'clock. A. M., and 6 P. M. The Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald, late of Virginia, will aid in the meeting. Georgetown Times.

A true religious instinct never deprived a man of one single joy.
